

I-90 corridor e-mail update

June 22, 2007

In this issue:

- Helicopters fly drill rigs on Snoqualmie Pass
- Bridging Futures III art contest winners announced

Helicopters fly drill rigs on Snoqualmie Pass

This week we resumed field activities on I-90 Snoqualmie Pass as part of the project design. Drivers can expect to see drill rigs along the road-side and helicopters above the work zone along Keechelus Lake.

Bridging Futures III art contest winners announced

Two young student artists will now have their masterpieces featured on billboards. WSDOT and I-90 Wildlife Bridges Coalition have teamed up to educate children and their families on the environmental benefits of the I-90 Snoqualmie East project. The third annual Bridging Futures Art Contest enabled students from across the state to share their artistic depiction of how the I-90 project will allow wildlife to cross over and under the highway, minimizing the risk to both animals and motorists.