

Where to buy Washington State Ferry Posters!

If you're interested in purchasing an Alex Young Ferry Poster here is where you can get them:

- ~ Online at www.nwprints.net. They have the largest selection of ferry posters, cards and magnets. This is your best resource for ferry posters!
- ~ Olympic Cascades (galley vendor) has the 2007 Southworth poster available for purchase on the vessels and on the following routes:
- ~ Seattle – Bremerton, Seattle – Bainbridge, Anacortes – Friday Harbor/inter-island, and Anacortes – Sidney.
- ~ Colman Dock News (located at the Seattle Ferry Terminal – Pier 52) has the 2003/04 Lopez, 2005 Shaw and the 2007 Southworth Posters available in limited supplies. When they're gone, they're gone.

Who is Alex Young?

The vivid watercolors of Alex Young have been featured in WSF's annual posters since 1984. Each one depicts a Washington state ferry at one of our terminals. The 1984 poster sold out, as did many more in the ensuing decades, culminating in WSF's 50th Anniversary poster in 2001. All of the posters have become sought-after collector's items among ferry devotees. Even annual visitors to the Puget Sound have made a point of purchasing each poster.

Young began painting the ferries while an employee of the Washington State Department of Transportation. He served for 30 years, retiring as a State Bridge and Structures Architect, whose duties included supervising the design of our ferry terminals.

In 1989 and 1993, his paintings of a salmon and duck were featured on two Washington stamps issued by the Washington State Department of Fish & Wildlife. Former Governor Booth Gardner supported Young's artwork exhibit, which traveled the state in 1989 to celebrate Washington's Centennial.

Young's artwork can be seen at a number of public structures, including the Seattle Public Library, the pedestrian and vehicle bridges in Spokane, the University of Washington Medical Center, and the Marine Corps Museum in Washington, D.C. Now, Washington residents and visitors can add to their private collection of Young's works with the new Washington State Ferries posters! For a complete list of Alex Young's Ferry posters in chronicle order, please click here.

