

Alaskan Way Viaduct REPLACEMENT PROGRAM

December 2018

Travel alternatives during approximate three-week SR 99 closure

In order to open the SR 99 tunnel, the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) is scheduled to close SR 99 through downtown Seattle for approximately three weeks starting Jan. 11, 2019, while crews build the ramps and roadways to realign SR 99. Additional ramp closures before and after the main closure will mean travelers, especially those commuting to downtown from the south and west, will face up to six weeks of closure disruption.

We recognize that this closure will bring significant disruption to local and regional traffic patterns. WSDOT and its partner agencies are implementing a variety of measures to keep people moving, and ask commuters and employers to plan ahead and adjust commute habits where possible.

To prepare, below are some ideas of how you may be able to alter your commute during the closure.

Travel alternatives

ADJUST YOUR TRAVEL TIMES & KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

If your schedule is flexible, consider adjusting your work hours to avoid peak travel times (typically 6 to 10 a.m. and 3 to 7 p.m.), which may start earlier and end later than typical rush hours during the closure.

Before you travel, check current travel times and stay engaged. Use WSDOT's online commute calculator, SDOT's traveler information map, or other real-time traffic tools to find out when you need to leave to arrive at your destination on time.

TRANSIT AND PARK & RIDES

There are over a dozen transit agencies operating in the Puget Sound region, all working to get you where you need to be. Check your transit options using the trip planning resources listed to the right.

If possible, plan your trips outside peak commute hours to avoid traveling when buses are likely to be more crowded. Check King County Metro's and Sound Transit's websites for service updates, including reroutes for buses that use the viaduct. WSDOT, King County Metro, Sound Transit and other local transit agencies are coordinating closely to keep people moving.
